
conform to become similar in shape to something else; to comply deform to take away the nature or shape of; to ruin or contort formalize to put into accepted arrangement or shape formatted shaped or arranged; put into a reusable pattern or structure formula logical arrangement of steps in a process information knowledge arranged or shaped to be understood malformation bad shape or structure reformation act of shaping again transformation act of moving across to another shape transforms moves across to another shape or appearance compose to put together; to create or build compost something put together; a mixture of decaying organic material dispose to put away; to throw away after use exponent something put outside; a math symbol denoting the 'power' of ~~numerical amount~~ impose to put in the way; to add on a tax or task opposition placement in conflict against positive certain of what is said or put forth; confident and sure of what is ~~proposed~~ posture the way a person places himself or herself; a person's stance propose to put forth; to suggest or offer an idea suppose to put up; to offer up as a suggestion or argument adversary a person turned toward; an opponent or enemy advertise to turn toward; to make known or call attention to avert to turn away; to avoid or prevent controversial tending to turn sides against one another converse to exchange ideas in turn-taking fashion convert to turn completely; to cause someone to adopt a new belief or opinion diverse turning in different directions; varied inverse that which is turned in against; the opposite reverse to turn back; to go the opposite direction universal all together, turning as one; affecting as a worldly whole affect to do something to; to influence artifact a skillfully made object; a man-made object of historical relevance deficient being made down; lacking efficient done or brought out; productive without waste faction a subgroup that does things in its own interest imperfect not done or made thoroughly right; flawed or blemished insignificant of no marked importance of something done; not important or weighty sacrifice to make holy by offering something revered sufficient made up to be enough; enough verification evidence that makes the truth proven; proof admission the act of sending toward; acknowledgement; entry commission authority to send forth with a task compromise to send forth with; to settle differences with someone dismiss to send away; to allow to leave; to disregard emission something sent out; gas given off or released message something sent; a communication sent out omit to fail to put in; to leave out premise an argument first sent forth; deeded property submission act of sending up from beneath; act of surrendering or handing over transmission act or process of sending across; the process of spreading a disease
